Dear students, Parents and my Dear Colleagues,

It gives me immense pleasure to write a foreword for the October issue of the newsletter of our college! I strongly believe in the above quote and at ICCS we exactly strive hard to bring out the best out of our students! By scrolling through the pages of this issue you would agree with me that, we put in each effort to provide the best to the learners; let it be the teaching learning innovation, faculty proficiency or the activities, or the social service. We try to make it better each time in our own unique Indira Way!

We try to imbibe the human values among our students arose the curiosity and try to make them take up good projects resulting into research paper writing or getting patent or copyrights. But we do not stop then and there, our soul program takes care of the inner strength and physical health of our students. Lets work Kaizenically towards the mutual achievements
